Don't Punish Your Pasture

The dry weather up to now has been hard on pasture. Overgrazing this year will mean that next year's pasture will be short. Don't take this chance. See some cover crop on part of your summerfallow and move your cattle onto it to give your regular pasture a chance to come back this fall. Oats, Rye or a mixture of Oats and Rye make good cover pasture. If weeds such as Canada Thistle, Stinkweed etc. are a problem they can be controlled by the use of 2,4-D in the cover crop without hurting it for pasture. It is still possible to get a lot of greenfeed off Oats seeded now and this could help out a short hay crop.

Tree Insects Cause Concern

This has been an extremely bad year for insects, particularly Aphids, in trees and around gardens. Control measures can be taken using chemicals such as Malathion spray. A teaspoonful of 50% Malathion in one gallon of water spray onto trees or ornamentals until they are well wet down. This is very effective and practically all insects. This same chemical mixed a bit stronger and sprayed around pasture plants, hedges and shrubs will be wonderful control of flies too.

Control Perennial Weeds

From now until late fall is the time to work on perennial weeds such as Toad Flax, Leafy Spurge, Hoary Cress, Canada Thistle, Sow Thistle and Couch Grass. Small patches of Toad Flax, Leafy Spurge and Hoary Cress can be eradicated with chemicals such as Sodium Chlorate, Polychlorate, or D.B. Granular but this method is too expensive for large infestation. For these larger infestations thorough summerfallow is the most effective control. The cultivator is one of the best implements for this purpose and the land should be gone over every time that there is a sign of new growth beginning. This gradually starves the deep roots which these plants grow from.

Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

Jesus therefore answered and said unto them, murmur not among yourselves.
No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him; and I will raise him up at the last day.
It is written in the prophets and, they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me.
Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father.
Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life.
St. John 6:43-47

Attendants of the bride were, maid of honor, Mrs. Loveshof of Edmonton, wearing a three quarter length yellow gown, and carrying a bouquet of carnations, and two bridesmaids, Miss Marina Gallant of Edmonton and Viola Van Bavel of Calgary, wearing mauve and yellow respectively. They also carried bouquets of carnations. Attendants of the groom as best men were William, Robert and Michael Stapleton, all of Calgary.
The bride's mother, Mrs. Eugene Meyer, wore a light blue dress with beige accessories and a corsage of red roses.
Mr. Eugene McLean of Vulcan and Mr. Lyder Loveshof of Edmonton acted as ushers.
The reception was held 5 p.m. in the Legion hall at Irma. Buffet style dinner was served and the head table was occupied by the immediate relations of the bride and groom. Rev. Klien, at the request of the best man, proposed the toast to the bride, wishing her and her husband success and happiness in their married life. Following the reception, a wedding cake was held in the North Irma Community Hall.
The bride and groom immediately left for U.S. for their honeymoon. On returning they will reside at Drayton Valley.

Northern Nuggets

Mr. Allen Hardy attended the Convention for the Deaf in Edmonton last week. He reports a fine time with delegates coming from the States and many parts of Canada. While there he met many old school friends including John Solikowski who lived for some time in this district. John is now married with a family of three and lives in Vancouver. Allen noted Mrs. Ingness with the beautiful new school for the deaf in Edmonton.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Ivan Hardy is a patient in the Mannville hospital, having undergone a major operation last Sunday. Ivan's many friends wish him a speedy recovery.
Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Barsa left on Sunday to spend a week in Calgary at the home of their son David and family. From there Mr. Barsa plans to continue on to Vancouver to visit his father, Mr. F. Pyle.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Savage and family are off on a two week motor trip to Langley Prairie and Nanaimo.
Mr. and Mrs. D. Veitch accompanied by Mrs. R. V. Prior and children left on Wednesday for their home at Courtney, B.C. Mr. Prior hopes to attend the Royal Purple convention while in Vancouver and visit his grandparents there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Prior and Verla drove to Edmonton on Sunday. Verla plans to take a hairdressing course.

Miss Joan Fleming has also gone to Edmonton for the holidays.

Mr. Harold Schaker will be the caller at the square dance in Ashcroft on Monday night.

The Buffalo Coulee W.I. will hold their July meeting at the home of Mrs. Alf Larson on the 18th. Hosts Mrs. John Allen, Roll Call, Ceylon.

Master Bill Hardy spent last week with his grandfather Mr. Hardy at Minnabawa. While there he took a short course in woodwork and arrived back with a marvellous collection of bird houses.

Mrs. W. D. Ramsay, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ramsay and Mr. and Mrs. D. McKemie are in Calgary this week.
We are sorry that the names of Mr. and Mrs. L. Meyers, Mr. F. Meyers and Mabel and Fred of Irma will not be on the list of town guests attending the Stapleton-Meyers wedding.

Glen-Coa Cleanings

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Knudson and children left last week on vacation to Banff, Waterton Lakes and Montana.

Miss Edythe Gubra is at Hagarty Lake Bible Camp this week.
Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Erickson and family of Edmonton were here last Sunday.
Other visitors at Sharon were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Johnson and family of Paradise Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Magee was installed as pastor at Sharon last Sunday at 11 a.m. The officiating minister was B.L.C. Canada District pastor, Dr. M. Dale. The church was beautiful with flowers for the occasion. The congregational dinner following the service was an enjoyable fellowship hour.

The next service at Sharon will be at 8 p.m. on Sunday, July 21. Mr. O. Likness and Norma spent a few days in Calgary at the first of the week, returning with the former's sister, Mrs. E. Willis and family of Vancouver, who will spend a few days at the Likness home here.

Sharon W.M.F. will meet at the O. Likness home on Thursday, July 13. A number of newcomers are Mrs. H. Fuder and Mrs. R. Erickson.

Mavis Robertson of Edmonton is holding out at the Dempsey home.
Mr. Bill Walker visited with relatives in Calgary and attended the 25th anniversary celebrations at the Vermilion School of Agriculture last Friday, July 5.
Mary Doodson returned to her duties in Viking hospital on Tues.
Mr. Joshua Holt has been a patient in Wainwright hospital.

SHOWER HELD FOR RECENT BRIDE

On Thursday evening, July 4, a good crowd of friends and well wishers gathered in the basement of the Irma United church for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Daniel Swain, the former Evelyn Miles.
The room was prettily decorated in blue and white and when the bride arrived she was escorted with her mother and sister to the seats of honor behind the gift laden table.

A jolly sing song was then enjoyed with Audrey Jones at the piano. Verla Prior, mistress of ceremonies conducted two good contests and then invited the guest of honor to open the many interesting parcels placed before her. In this she was assisted by her mother and sister and her two newly acquired sisters-in-law.

After these had all been opened and admired and Evelyn had expressed her sincerest thanks, a lovely lunch brought the happy evening to a close.

News Report From Edmonton

By Ken Mason

EDMONTON—Could the Progressive Conservative party be taking a leaf from the book of the Social Credit government in Alberta?

Maybe not, but a talk given last week by Marcel Lambert, MP-elect for Edmonton West and one of the three PC candidates elected in Alberta, sounded as if it could have been taken from one of Provincial Treasurer Ted Himmelman's brochures on the proposed "new deal" for municipalities.

Mr. Lambert said the responsibilities of the three levels of government—federal, provincial and municipal—are seriously out of adjustment in relation to the revenues each has been granted. He called for a "down-to-earth" conference between the three levels to reallocate responsibilities and provide each level with sufficient resources to fulfil those responsibilities.

Similar ideas were expressed by Tory candidates and leaders during the federal election campaign, but in Alberta it is nothing new. For well over a year studies have been in progress toward revamping of provincial-municipal revenues and responsibilities.

In addition, the Alberta government has repeatedly called for precisely what Mr. Lambert advocates. If the new federal government calls the "down-to-earth" conference suggested by the Edmonton MP, Alberta will be only too glad to attend. The similarity of views is further support for speculation that Secord's in the House of Commons will go along with the PC government to a great extent.

Dry weather already has caused damage to crops in some areas and more rain is badly needed in other parts of the province, according to the provincial department of agriculture.

The department says drought damage has been "considerable, although variable," in most of the region between the Red Deer and Athabasca rivers. Wheat is advancing too rapidly, with short straw and small heads, and as a result yields will be low. More moisture is needed in parts of the south, and dry weather has reduced prospects in parts of the Peace River country. A good, old-fashioned soaking would be more than welcome about now.

The Alberta public is maintaining its position as among the most motorized in the world. Provincial motor vehicles branch officials say car and truck registrations in the province should hit a record high this year.

From April until the end of June, Alberta registered 367,364 vehicles, an increase of 23,000 over the same period of last year. Of the total, passenger cars accounted for 246,631 registrations.

While Alberta may have more cars and motorists than many other provinces, it is not necessarily the best out of 6,776 persons who took driving tests in June, 2,413—or nearly one-third—failed to qualify. Only nine of these were classified as complete failures, and the remainder will be allowed to try again.

NEIGHBORLY NEWS
C.B.C.

C. F. GREENE

JUNE 30, 1937.
Good morning, neighbors:

The man who is Canada's new Prime Minister, John Diefenbaker, found two days before the federal election, that his credit in Wakaw, Saskatchewan, his old home town where he practiced law in the 1920's, was no good—so states the Wakaw Recorder—going on to report: when Mr. Diefenbaker stopped at at Smitty's Snacks on June 8th for a bite to eat and attempted to put through a long distance telephone call on the private telephone at the lunch bar, he was informed by the telephone operator that no long distance calls could be made from there without the okay of the proprietress, Mrs. P. J. Smith. Mr. Diefenbaker told the operator that he had been making long distance calls to all parts of Canada during the past two months without his credit being challenged. This, however, didn't impress the operator, and she refused the call. When Mrs. Smith heard about the incident three days after the election, she said she would send "John", an old friend of hers, a wire stating: "Mr. Prime Minister, your credit is very good at Smitty's Snacks in Wakaw."

Heads of all political parties agree on one policy—namely, that of congratulating citizens on going to the polls—especially Granny Woodward of the Lavenham district, Man., who according to the MacGregor, here, cast her vote on June 10th. Granny is 103 years old.

Men and women were not the only ones interested in the elections: the Carillon News of Steinbach, Man., states that even the bears in the McMunn district showed an interest in the election campaign, according to P. D. McMunn. One evening when Mr. and Mrs. N. Busilla were watching a political speech on their TV set, Mr. Busilla happened to glance out the window. There, not six feet away, and perched in the crotch of a tree, was a good sized black bear watching the TV with great interest. After a while, the bear clambered down the tree and lumbered into the bush. "I can't see," says Mr. McMunn, "why Mr. Bruin didn't come and listen in the bush, and watch some more interesting programs."

Something interesting took place in Assiniboia, Sask.—that is, unless it was rained out. Under the heading "Annual Massacre on June 26", the Times states: The feature baseball game between the Assiniboia Business men and Travellers is scheduled to take place on June 26, and a record number of casualties is anticipated. All doctors, medical personnel and ambulances have been alerted for the game, and there should be little trouble in removing the bodies off the diamond. Umpires will be Les Dow, Charles J. and Tom Fong, who will ensure fair play—at gun point if necessary. This should prove an entertaining spectacle, declares the Assiniboia Times, as it is not often that the public receives an opportunity for seeing such a great assortment of floss and steam collected together at one time. It is understood that most stores will donate to spectators a good supply of rotten fruit, vegetables and eggs, for free use during the game.

Receiving donations as the result of winning a TV program contest is the good fortune of a certain lady in Alberta. According to our weekly newspapers don't tell us whether or not the following good neighbors have taken out fishing licences—but the editors do congratulate them on noteworthy birthday anniversaries. A. R. Manareck of Dand, Man., 90 tomorrow the next birthday as Canada—Mrs. A. E. Wilson of Indian Head, Saskatchewan, 90—Mrs. Jane Greenaway of Raymond, Sask., 91—Mrs. S. Quinn of Kinistino, Sask., 93—D. Have of Benito, Man., 96—and with the mad candles to blow out Mrs. Jane Love of Kyle, Sask., 98. Mrs. Love is still active, and does a lot of her own housework, we are told.

Still active is a horse pictured in the Wynyard Advance, Sask., which comments: There is nothing so unusual about a picture of a boy on a horse but 14-year-old Arian Bjarnason gets a big kick out of riding a horse that is more than twice as old as he is. Arthur Bjarnason tells us that this horse is 28 years old. Old Dobbin still earns his oats by doing odd jobs around the farm, and appears to be in perfectly good health says Mr. Bjarnason.

Perhaps some of these happily married couples may have gone to their weddings by hitching Old Dobbin to the Shay. Receiving congratulations on their diamond wedding anniversaries are Mr. and Mrs. J. Graf of Transcona, Man.—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brady of Melfort, Sask.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kooker of Lacombe, Alta.—Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McIntosh of Indian Head, Sask.—and celebrating their first wedding recently were Mr. and Mrs. Arch McKenrich of Wolseley, Sask.

No doubt among these long-wedded couples will be a grandmother or two—and they will be interested in learning from the Grenfell Sun, Sask., that among those receiving degrees at the University of Saskatchewan's Convocation this spring was Mrs. Isabel Drake, a member of the Broadview school staff, who received her degree in Arts and Science. Mrs. Drake is the mother of three children and has two grandchildren, Morley and Larry Hanson.

Although not receiving a University degree, the great-grandson of Indian Chief Peguis has won a prize for an essay on his famous forefather, so reports the Russell Banner, Man. Albert E. Thompson, who farms on the Peguis Indian Reserve, was one of three to win medals in the Manitoba Historical Society's annual Margaret McWilliams' essay competition. Other medal winners are Miss Eva M. Ferguson of Dauphin and Thomas Turnbull of Winnipeg.

Finally, a little squig going the rounds of our papers. A kind-hearted gentleman saw a little boy trying to reach the door bell. He rang the bell for him, then said: "What now, my little man?" "Tun like the chickens," replied the little boy, "that's what I'm trying to do."

And that's what I must do so... good morning, neighbors.

Retiring the
The Iron Horse

Where does the old iron horse go after it retires from CPR tracks and is replaced by a powerful new diesel? Not to museums or to isolated branch lines, but to the scrap-heap, or, as the backshop boys have it, the honeyard.

In the West these honeyards are at Weston Shops in Winnipeg and Ogden Shops in Calgary while in the East this work is done at Angus Shops in Montreal.

Last year, because of the rapid progress of diesel replacement of steam power, CPR scrapped some 195 engines. Of these 50 were scrapped at Weston, 45 at Ogden. This year Weston will scrap 63, Ogden 49.

What is the scrap price of a locomotive. If it's a big one, in the nature of $8,000 according to the present market price of scrap. Material worth anything between $500 and a thousand dollars is often salvaged from an engine and used for replacements for locomotives still in service.

Until the early fifties most CPR locomotives in the region were brought back to the shops every year or so after they had completed an average of 100,000 running miles, given a thorough overhaul—then sent out on the tracks again for a further 100,000-mile stretch. The process was repeated almost indefinitely. But nowadays, when engines have run out their repair mileage they are either scrapped or held in the yard to be repaired on demand.

The reserve stock consists of locomotives of the latest classes and most powerful types. They are kept in case of a sudden increase in traffic that cannot be met by power on hand or in case of emergency.

The scrapping yard at Weston and Ogden is a line-up of discarded steam engines—boilers empty, pistons silent. They are pulled into the scrap yard there—by a diesel. Gradually the locomotive reaches the dismantling point. Two burners with acetylene torches and each with an assistant start to strip the engine which in six days will be nothing but a pile of nuts, bolts, springs, tubes and scrap metal of a dozen different kinds.

After removing some salvageable equipment such as headlights, marker lamps, bells, whistles, wheels, pumps, valves, lubricators and other parts which can be used again as replacements for other engines of the same class still in service, the men with the acetylene torches cut the boiler into six parts like pieces of cake. Cylinders, wheels, boiler tubes and firebricks are loosened from their frames and lifted out by powerful cranes. Sometimes working in double harness. By the third day the engine looks like a badly battered skeleton. By the fifth day its proud distinctive form is no longer recognizable.

When work ceases, the engine is separated into 15 separate classes of scrap, including steel, cast iron, copper, bronze and lead.

Sometimes it is quite a job to separate the various kinds of scrap and every bit has to be sorted, down to the minutest particle. Paint has to be removed, metals separated from one another. Bearing metal on cross heads or lead in the counterbalances of driving wheels has to be removed before the metal can be sold as scrap.

Between 1933 and the end of 1936, CPR scrapped 389 steam locomotives on the system. Every year the pace is accelerated and it won't subside until the CPR's dieselization program is completed around 1961.

Householders along many of the streets of towns are enjoying the relief from dust which has been one result of the street program being carried out by town crews. Much of the work has already been done and this year's program includes a large area of the town. A number of these streets were done last year and have had, or are going to have, another treatment this year to hold them up. The process involves the laying of fine gravel, then a layer of oil, then another coat of fine gravel, followed by rolling, all of which makes a nice finish. The Times, High River, Alta.—June 29, 1937.

Study of detailed reports on farm fatalities in Saskatchewan in 1955 and 1956 indicates that carelessness and fatigue may be major factors in causation, Dr. F. B. Roth, deputy minister of public health, stated.

Dr. Roth said that examination of reports by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which normally investigate all violent deaths, reveals that the incidence of fatal farm accidents is greatest in the early afternoon between the hours of one and two, takes a decided upswing in the mornings between eight and nine, and then becomes less until late afternoon, when there is again a rise in fatalities. This coincides with the known fact that approximately 40 per cent of tractor fatalities occur on roads and highways when the farmer is going to or coming from work, or when on trips to and from town.

Dr. Roth expressed his appreciation to the police authorities for their co-operation in making pertinent data available on forms supplied by the department. Previously, the police supplied the Department of the Attorney-General mainly with facts pertinent to responsibility. The information we are now receiving may be most valuable in concentrating our safety efforts on those phases of the problem where the important factors lie, Dr. Roth said.

The study of the two years is based on 57 investigated farm fatalities. The police began their co-operative reporting during 1955, so that not all farm fatalities for that year were included as silent data were not available. However, the number of available reports was considered a fairly good sampling. Further study is being made and the 1956 reports will be compared later with those for 1957.

Time Accident Occurred

The incidence of accidents in farm work and in farm life is such as to give public health authorities considerable concern, the deputy minister said. In the five years 1952 to 1956 there were at least 474 fatalities, and this was not the complete number either, as farm home accidents could not

Altona council hears report on proposed sewer system

Altona council Monday night heard a report from their firm of consulting engineers that placed the estimated cost of a proposed sewer system for the town at $238,500. The project would include most of the more densely populated areas of the town, covering a total of over 35,000 feet. The sewer proposed by Haddin, David and Brown, of Winnipeg, would extend from the collegiate area to the west to former Highway 14A in the east, and from co-op Vegetable Oil plant in the north to Fifth avenue SE in the south. — The Red River Valley Echo, Altona, Man.—June 19/57.

A FUNNY ONE!

Officer Kelly leaned into Mr. Gruber's coupe as reported, "Ya, your wife fell out of the back seat four blocks back."

"So that's what it was!" exclaimed Mr. Gruber, with a heartfelt sigh of relief. "I thought I had gone deaf!"

always be separated from other home fatalities in cities and towns. Nor did the figure 474 include deaths of farm people in highway or traffic accidents.

A very conservative estimate, based on surveys conducted elsewhere, shows that in non-fatal accidents on farms in Saskatchewan at least 35,000 persons were injured in the five-year period, Dr. Roth said. Some of these were disabling of a minor nature, disabling the victim for a short period only, but in an unfortunate number of cases the victims suffered permanent disabilities and scars that would last their lives.

While the department is searching for important reasons to explain farm accidents, one reason is sufficiently well known to be mentioned, and that is negligence, the deputy minister said. Some people are too careless with power equipment, some do not know the dangers, and some deliberately court death or injury by taking chances against heavy odds.

The Department of Public Health has emphasized that farming is a big enough gamble without, staking one's life.

"Whatever the department does, it is ultimately up to the farmer and the members of his family to live and work safely with dangerous things and conditions," Dr. Roth said. "We hope that we can induce farm people to adopt safe habits. We need the co-operation of the farmers themselves and of the community organizations in rural Saskatchewan."

Farm Safety Week, being observed July 21 to 27, is only a means of bringing home the gospel of safety in a concentrated manner for a short period.

"Community organizations which want to help in this worthwhile work in the special week or through the year can get help and suggestions from the department."

2,000,000 Gallon reservoir planned for Whalley district

"I believe a large reservoir, to store a million and a half or two million gallons of water can be financed this year," announced Reeve R. M. Nesbitt. The Reeve made his suggestion for a reservoir to solve North Surrey's water problems at Friday afternoon's Council session.

Nesbitt reported that the grant from the Provincial Government from the sales tax was higher than Surrey had budgeted for. A rough figure on the cost of the reservoir is $30,000.—The Surrey Leader, Cloverdale, B.C.—June 13, 1957.

Plan to clean hard surfaced streets in Taber

The regular meeting of the council of the Town of Taber, held on Monday, June 3, discussed among other business, the possibility of keeping the hard surfaced streets in town clean. It was decided to secure two hand-operated carts and have men go around and clean the streets.

The council left the matter of filling the position of fire chief with the Taber Volunteer Firemen. The brigade has named John Malinsky acting fire chief, and this appointment was approved by the council.—The Times, Taber, Alta.—June 6, 1957.

Funny and Otherwise

An orchestra directors son was the only kid in class to identify a selection played by the school orchestra as a composition of the immortal Paganini. "Your father's training, I suppose," beamed the teacher. "No seen my papa in six months," protested the cute kid. "I read it here in the music." The teacher looked at the sheet. "It reads: 'Page nine.' (Pronounce it slowly in the Italian manner)." —

A teacher was explaining hybrids to her class. "For example," she explained, "if you cross a horse and a donkey, you get a mule. Now what would happen if you cross a mule with a cow?" "You'd get milk with a kick in it," called out a student.

"Whoever taught you that a dead full word?" Johnny's mother asked. "The Easter Bunny," he answered righteously.

"The Easter Bunny," his mother exclaimed. "Yes, Mama," he said, "last year when he fell over the chair in my bedroom on his way downstairs with the eggs."

Ferry at Ile a la Crosse serves settlement

A unique ferrying operation is now in progress on Lake Ile a la Crosse in northern Saskatchewan, according to information received by the provincial Tourist Branch. This ferry will operate until the settlement of Ile a la Crosse becomes accessible by road later in the year.

The landing is located in the vicinity of Burnout's milk ranch near the mouth of the Canoe river. It is accessible via a narrow bush road one-and-a-half miles long, which leaves the Buffalo Narrows highway a few yards south of the Canoe river bridge. This road is not readily passable in wet weather and will be used at the vehicle operator's risk.

The ferry leaves the landing at 3 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays, and at 1:30 Friday, M.T.

The 1956 vehicle and freight charges will continue in effect on scheduled trips. The charge for charter trips will be $5.00 per trip plus an additional $2.00 per hour for waiting time.

To facilitate arrangements for ferry trips, a telephone is now in operation between Burnout's ranch and Ile a la Crosse.

Viking Items

The Viking Shamrocks moved one game ahead in the Provincial "B" playdowns at the local ball park on Sunday when they defeated the Bateman ball tossers by the score of 10 to 7 behind the superb pitching of young Kevin Gleeson who went the distance against the visitors.

Ken Fischer, receiver for the Shamrocks, and Bob Dunbar, right field, each connected for four hits. High tension between the teams developed at times but everybody settled down and played the game.

The second was an exhibition game which the visitors won by the score of 5 to 4. Joe Makar and Procktor did the chucking for the Shamrocks.

The next game in the series may probably be played next Sunday at Bateman.

Watch for announcements or posters.

Follow the team to Bateman. They will need your support.

Both teams are playing heads up ball and anything can happen.

In conjunction with the sale of the estate of P. Nyhus and goods of Frank Ryan there will be a community auction of goods as well.
